Political Parties in Africa: Challenges for Sustained Multiparty Democracy International IDEA
Providing a broad, comparative analysis of 27 African countries and 75 political parties, this discussion examines data that was assembled from 2004 to 2006 and the national and sub-regional dialogue workshops that followed between political parties, researchers, and civil society. This report explores the agenda for reform that emanated from the research and dialogue process and covers legislative regulation of political parties, women's participation in them, their funding, party democracy, and party programs that represent and reflect the preferences of the people.
