Oral Pathology and Therapeutics: A Systematic a Systematic Presentation of the Subject From the Standpoint of Modern Therapeutics (Classic Reprint) Elgin Whinney
Excerpt from Oral Pathology and Therapeutics: A Systematic a Systematic Presentation of the Subject From the Standpoint of Modern Therapeutics

In nearly all branches of dental science progress has been rapid, and especially in the departments of surgery, operative procedures and prosthodontia, but in the field of therapeutics empirical methods of treatment still abide.

This volume is presented with the hope that it may furnish at least a rational scientific basis for the management of many oral diseases the treatment of which constitutes a large part of our professional service. The recognition and prevention of disease and its consequent misery should be the highest aim of all who follow the healing art as a profession.

It has been the aim of the author not to burden the volume with needless pathological or histological detail, but rather to present such phases of these subjects as will furnish a scientific basis for practical therapeutics. Treatment of disease without knowledge of its pathology has and always will be a decided failure.

Although the preparation of this work has been an arduous task coming into a busy professional life, still it has been a pleasure, for the hope of being helpful to the toilers of the profession, as well as to those who are preparing for their life's work, has been the dominating spirit in which the work has been done.

The author wishes to disclaim originality for much of the subject matter here presented; for the most part it has been gained from recognized authorities, as well as from clinical observations in the college infirmary and private practice extending over a period of nearly twenty years, supplemented by such scientific investigation as a teacher in one of our large schools and a full private practice would permit.

The author wishes to render grateful acknowledgment to Dr. E. S. Willard for personal encouragement and assistance in the work, and to Dr. G. V. Black, Dr. F. B. Noyes, Dr. Martin IT. Fisher, Dr. G. W. Cook, Dr. W. D. Miller, Prof. Goadby, Prof. Hopewell Smith, Dr. Osier, Dr. Jas. Nevins Hyde, Dr. E. S. Talbot, Dr. John S. Marshall, Dr. J. Leon Williams, Dr. Hugh Blake Baldwin, Dr. E. C. Kirk, Dr. Sudduth and Dr. Burchard, whose published writings have been drawn on for much subject matter as well as illustrations.
