Putrid Shittgenstein and The Bullshit Machine (The Philosophy of Capitalism) (Volume 1) Cathal Haughian

This volume is used to define the result of Demoralisation. Demoralisation was the goal of Soviet subversion and propaganda, which the US and Western populations were exposed to during the Cold War by Communist intelligence placements in our media and education systems.

The Communist manual of instructions in psychological warfare stated:
‘The first thing to degrade in any nation is the state of man himself. Nations which have a high ethical tone are difficult to conquer. Their loyalties are hard to break, their allegiances are fanatical, and what they usually call their spiritual integrity cannot be violated by duress. Man must be degraded from a spiritual being to an animalistic pattern. He must think of himself as an animal...

This volume presents the argument that both sides lost the Cold War using a subtle and complex conversational analysis. The dictionary definition of Demoralisation is this:

1. to deprive (a person or persons) of spirit, courage, discipline, etc.; destroy the morale of

2. to throw (a person) into disorder or confusion; bewilder:

3. to corrupt or undermine the morals

Obviously, the dictionary can't capture the societal and economic result which we endeavour to do.

This volume may be offensive to moral and religious persons, the title is deliberate warning of such.
