Heart of Darkness

Joseph Conrad

Heart of Darkness Joseph Conrad
Charles Marlow is a steamboat captain on the River Thames near Gravesend England. He and his crew work for an ivory trading company. One day he recounts to his fellow crew the story of his life and how he became a captain for the steam boat company. The focus of his story involves the journey Marlow undertook to the outer reaches of the company's operations. Here he tells of his wild encounters with Mr. Kurtz, a man with a great reputation for bringing in the most ivory for the company. Kurtz is widely respected by the natives, yet Marlow has some differing opinions as he struggles to understand Kurtz's way of life, while uncovering secrets about the strange way Kurtz conducts his business.

As a college student exactly feel bored in order to reading. If their teacher asked them to go to the library as well as to make summary for some guide, they are complained. Just tiny students that has reading's soul or real their interest. They just do what the teacher want, like asked to the library. They go to there but nothing reading really. Any students feel that studying is not important, boring as well as can't see colorful images on there. Yeah, it is for being complicated. Book is very important in your case. As we know that on this age, many ways to get whatever you want. Likewise word says, many ways to reach Chinese's country. So , this Heart of Darkness can make you feel more interested to read.
